

March 24, 2008

Hi there,

I hope that this letter finds you all healthy and happy. I am writing to let you know that I am currently embarking on a new adventure in life. I am happy to announce the opening of HappyPlanettravel.com – my own online travel business. I am partnered with a company called “Your Travel Biz,” or YTB. This company competes with other highly advertised online sites, such as Travelocity, Orbitz, or Expedia, beating or matching them 95% of the time. This is exciting because most of us book travel online already. I have decided to supplement my income, for the moment, since education is twisting and turning everyday.

There are several reasons why this business works for me:

- *Travel is a 7 trillion dollar business. Why not get in on the action?
- *As baby-boomers retire, many of them will be traveling for one reason or another.
- *The internet has become quite user-friendly in the traveling world.
- *I know many people who travel for business or pleasure.
- *Many people would prefer to travel for a wholesale price rather than a retail price.
- *Everyone is booking on the internet already, so I am not changing anyone's habits.

Anyone can join. You too could book your vacations at a discounted rate and you could ask for upgrades when you arrive at your destination. Hotels and resorts want travel agents to be their guests and to be happy with their establishments! There are also wonderful tax advantages of owning your own Home Based Online Travel Business.

Once you go to my site, you will not only be able to book your travel, but there are many other perks to consider. You can order concert tickets, arrange for a massage, order flowers, take hiking trips, rent cars, or buy tickets for sporting events, anywhere. If this interests you at all, I encourage you to compare our travel prices with those who advertise. Please keep one thing in mind as you compare. Our taxes and fees have already been figured in; that won't be the case with the other companies.

See for yourself why I am so excited about this new path I have taken.

Sincerely,

Jim March
HappyPlanettravel.com
760.233.1246 (H)
760.522.8433 (C)

jemarch@cox.net